

Alexander M. Stovall

alex.stovall.0@gmail.com

1523 Roswell Road, Apt. 218 • Marietta, GA 30062 • (678)617-2971

EDUCATION

Kennesaw State University, Kennesaw, GA

- B.S., Chemistry, December 2014

Forsyth Central High School, Cumming, GA

- Diploma, May 2009

RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Kennesaw State University, Kennesaw, GA

Research Assistant with Dr. Janet Shaw, 2012-2013

- Followed previously researched and novel methods of synthesizing porphyrin metal complexes for analysis.
- Analyzed products using UV visible spectroscopy, FTIR, NMR, and pH studies. Presented findings at the SERMACS conference in the fall of 2012.

OTHER JOB RELATED EXPERIENCE

Legacy and Fox Creek Golf Course, Smyrna GA

Pro-Shop Attendee, Summer 2014-Present

- Responsible for opening and closing the pro-shop
- Counting and keeping record of financial transactions
- Maintaining a clean and friendly environment for customers

Kennesaw State University, Kennesaw, GA

Teacher's Assistant, Fall 2012

- Assisted students in the learning of general chemical principles
- Prepared worksheets in order to help students gain understanding of basic chemical principles
- Prepared the classroom setting for upcoming classes

Forsyth County Schools, Cumming, GA

Substitute Teacher, 2010-Present

- Maintained an ordered environment appropriate for learning
- Assisted students with assignments left by teachers
- Prepared classes for upcoming activities and lessons

PUBLICATIONS

Shaw, Janet*, McMurray Johnathan, Salehi Pooya, and Stovall Alexander. "Acid-base and Aggregation Behavior of Water Soluble N-confused Porphyrin." Journal of Porphyrins and Phthalocyanines 18.03 (2014): 231. World Scientific. Web.

<<http://www.worldscientific.com/doi/abs/10.1142/S1088424613501125>>